

Lawrence J. Gross

Larry Gross is a forty-year veteran of the freight transportation sector. He is the President and Founder of Gross Transportation Consulting of Durango, CO, an independent consulting practice specializing in freight transportation matters.

www.intermodalindepth.com

Larry is an acknowledged expert on the intermodal sector who is quoted often in the press and makes frequent appearances before the transportation community. He produces Intermodal in Depth, a monthly analytical report on the intermodal sector and authors a monthly column for the Journal of Commerce. He has played a key role in the creation of educational content for students studying Supply Chain Management as the author of numerous business case studies.

Larry posts frequently on Twitter using the name @Intermodalist. He can be reached at lgross@intermodalindepth.com.

Prior to starting his consulting practice, Larry enjoyed a long career in intermodal equipment development and sales during which he was responsible for the sale of roughly a half-billion dollars' worth of RoadRailer equipment both in North America and various overseas nations.

He holds an MBA from the Harvard Business School and a Bachelor of Science in Arts and Design from MIT.

He splits his time between Durango CO and Mahwah, NJ, enjoying the special qualities of each location.